

Paul Francis Erasmus states under oath

I was a member of the Security Branch of the South African Police for 17 years. I was based at John Vorster Square in Johannesburg where I was involved in extensive covert operations. Initially I worked in the section called "Blanke Seksie" (European Section) which was responsible for the collection of information of all intelligence gathered pertaining to white suspects and organisation in Johannesburg. I was discharged on medical grounds and my service was terminated due to Post Traumatic Stress Syndrome in 1993. I have kept my case books and many documents that recorded my operations. These books were regularly signed off by my superior officers. It is also supported by a lot of original documents. I gave evidence before the Goldstone Commission as well as the TRC.

My defined field of work at the Security Police as mentioned was inter alia intelligence gathering. I was more a field operator which and was exhorted to work after hours on many occasions. Parts of these duties were not only to monitor suspects after hours but to put pressure on them as well. I soon became aware that members of staff would regularly resort to damaging suspect's vehicles, throwing bricks through windows and a wide variety of so called "dirty tricks". I soon became involved in these types of activities which became more and more brazen as "the struggle" intensified. Over the years I have been involved in numerous dirty tricks against opponents of the then Nationalist government. Attacks followed on a regular basis at the homes or property of anti-government bodies too lengthy to list here. Apart from the attacks on suspects, much of our defined work was conducted in an illegal fashion and within a relatively short space of time I had become rather adept at for example breaking into premises.

From time to time I was given the means to carry out "dirty tricks" On one occasion I was given a canister of new generation tear gas "for use in emergencies". I did not use the canister of tear gas and handed it over to the Special Investigating unit of the Goldstone Commission. On several occasions I was given vials of a substance called "Bokpoort" a particularly strong and evil smelling substance. It was used to disrupt services at St Mary's Cathedral in Johannesburg and Regina Mundi in Soweto and was also thrown into a Colonel's car at John Vorster Square when it was established that he had carried stories about the illegal use of secret funds to the Commissioner of the South African Police.

In regard to Stratkom I must state that a Brigadier Alfred Oosthuizen (then Captain) was transferred with Brigadier G Erasmus to the Security Branch at John Vorster Square and Oosthuizen took over our section from Cronwright while Genl Erasmus took over command of the whole of Security Branch in Johannesburg. Numerous secret projects were begun and I did some artistic work (posters e.g. Why are your schools burning? Desmond Tutu for God's sake you are killing our kids and others) and I also was being called on for the forging of documents and preparation of pro-Government/ anti left-wing printed material. I was aware that a unit known as Stratkom had been set up at Head Office largely to coordinate on a national basis the covert war on the left. Disinformation became something of a watchword. During a raid on Khotso House several blank cheques and a cheque book were stolen. I was expected to forge a document from a signature for example specimen. I had become more and more involved with the functioning of STRATKOM (there was not an official constituted unit at John Vorster Unit at that stage) and much of my work became Stratkom related.

This section was initially under the command of a Colonel McIntyre and based on the roof of Wachthuis building in Pretoria. Section D or Covert Collection of Intelligence began on an ad hoc basis to spread disinformation and carry out dirty tricks operations. In the early eighties with so called reactionary "right wing" attacks having taken place across South Africa on perceived left wing enemies of the state, the powers that be – State Security Council and Nationalist Cabinet - became alarmed after a security police man was caught during an attack in Cape Town. He was never charged and avoided prosecution but the State Security Council, alarmed then embarked on a campaign to coordinate "illegal" and underground activities and this was the father of what was eventually known as Stratkom (Strategic Communication). There was four 4 bodies involved in Stratkom visually the SA Police, SADF, the then Burea of State Security (BOSS) and Foreign Affairs. The Stratcom principle espoused by the State Security Council permeated literally every facet of life in South Africa and I personally have details of operations with bizarre names e.g. Project Guano. At a full cabinet meeting in 1982 the NP all agreed on the principles of the major stratcom projects. Only one member Kobie Coetzee refused to have anything to do with it.

Locally in Johannesburg, for instance there was a massive campaign against the ECC (End conscription Campaign). We (the Police) had put paint remover on the stickers of the ECC and in that we forced the ECC to end their stickers campaign. The ECC got lots of negative publicity for supposedly damaging hundreds of vehicles.

The disinformation operations of Section D became its main business. (There was a lot of renaming of sections at the time C1, C 2, D1 and D2 for instance.) These operations were referred to as STRATKOM. For the purpose of operations and projects wide use was made of telephone and telefax tapping, recording bugs being in homes, hotel rooms and offices, intercepting of post, (although mail interceptions were practised since 1957) sending letters to the press under assumed names, the setting up of front companies and widespread use of paid informers. Example abound. I have details of hundreds of such matters. A classic example is a letter intercepted by the Security Police addressed Archbishop Desmond Tutu from the administrator of a very wealthy trust in the US offering him a huge amount of money. This letter was destroyed and I replaced a forged letter from Bishop Tutu telling the lady in particular that she should not interfere in internal affairs of South Africa and never bother him ("the Bishop") again. She made no further effort to contact the Bishop.

The most important national operation of Section D was called "Operation Romulus" which was an umbrella project encompassing "any action of whatever nature carried out against any of the liberation movements and notably the ANC. This included the spreading of harmful information, disinformation and fake news concerning the ANC and sometimes throughout the world. One of its goals was to spread harmful information and disinformation concerning the ANC/SACP/ COSATU alliance. A letter in this regard is attached to statement annexure A.

In pursuance of Operation Romulus I played a role in disinformation in a number of foreign countries about the ANC alliance. For that purpose I sent out a substantial amount of information, much of my own invention concerning Mrs Winnie Mandela and other ANC leaders like Peter Mokaba. I lifted a signature of Mr Raymond Suttner a member of the NEC of the ANC and placed it under a letter composed by me and typed on a letterhead of the ANC. The letter purported to be addressed to Mr Gerry Adams the leader of Sinn Fein, the armed wing of the Irish Republican Army. In the letter Sinn Fein is invited to attend the 48th National Conference of the ANC. A copy of the letter is attached to this statement as

Annexure B. I still have the original intercepted fax from which Mr Suttner's signature was "lifted". The effect of this was to provide the Nationalist government with propaganda which could then publicly be used to accuse "and discredit the ANC" ... by stating that ANC had established contact with the IRA. I was eventually commended by Security Branch Head Office for discrediting the ANC by even opening channels to and influencing many British politicians and ultimately the British Prime Minister Mr John Major himself. I even had an avenue to contact (and did) the head of NATO, Sir Walter Walker and several right wing MP's.

An example of a local Stratkom operation is where I falsely created a cheque in favour of the ANC for R 12-00 purporting to have been drawn by Mr Dave Dalling MP. The cheque was drawn on First National Bank. The signature was that of Mr Dalling taken from a different document and placed on the cheque by me. I composed a letter purporting to come from an employee of the First National Bank, together with a photocopy of the cheque and I sent it to a number of newspapers. Copies of these documents are attached as annexure C

An operation that describe Stratkom is that I designed and had printed 100 000 leaflets intended to discredit the Alexandra Civic Association. These leaflets were distributed in Alexandra Township and the perception was created that Alexandra Civic Association distributed the leaflets. This was disinformation in a classical sense. A copy of leaflet is attached as Annexure D.

Front organisations were also created and financed by Stratkom who had almost unlimited access to secret funds. Such a Stratkom front was the Support Police Action Group of Mrs Avril Budd, the National Student Federation and many others. Another organisation used by Stratkom was the Confederation of Employers of South Africa (COFESA) A reference to this this organisation appears form Annexure E. A letter with regard to this matter was spread across South Africa ( See Annexure E.) The Open letter to the ANC was prepared at the office of the Security Police It was within the power of the State to falsify documents, leaflets and even books to achieve a strategic goal.

I was involved in assaults and torture on suspects and witnesses on the 9, 10th Floor and even the security cells of John Vorster Square Police Station in Johannesburg in the period prior to 1990. General methods used included electric shocks, a wet sack over the head, hanging from the feet and hitting the soles of the feet. I did not personally torture the detainees themselves barring common assault with flat hands and which is dealt with extensively in my amnesty application but I personally witnessed many sessions of torture.

I was involved in the events which followed the death and detention of Dr Niel Aggett. A directive came from the Commissioner that no effort was to be spared with the preparation for the forthcoming enquiry into Aggett's death because they "could not afford another Timol or Biko situation". I was nominated to accompany Aggett's chief interrogator Lt S P Whitehead on a national investigation our brief being to somehow gain evidence to the effect that Aggett was a 'born suicide case" Whitehead and I had laisses faire to conduct the investigation and after traveling through the Eastern Cape and putting Aggett's youth under the microscope, we ended up at his parents' home in Somerset West. Here an opportunity presented itself to search the home and I proceeded on my own. I was caught in the act. The attempted cover up was bungled and charges were laid of housebreaking, pointing of fire arm and trespassing before being reduced to illegal search I was given R200 from the secret fund and schooled as to sequence of events by Colonel Gloy and other senior Officers including General J Coetzee who promised me that I would not get a criminal record and being the "fall guy" would help my career. In September 1983 I was convicted. In fact Coetzee lied and my sacrifice cost me all my promotions and chances of improving my career for years afterwards. Despite dishing out commendations for 'excellent work' my promotions were withheld for (almost 10 years) and then I was told that I could not become an officer because I had a criminal record.

Prior to the inquest proceedings we were involved in bugging and telephone tapping of the chambers of the counsel for the Aggett family, advocate G Bizos SC. The information obtained in that manner was used to prepare police witnesses and especially Lieutenant Whitehead in the ensuing inquest into Aggett's death. A mock trial was held for hours at Johns Vorster Square.

Security Branch training included, even in the basic security course (6 weeks) lectures in the use of methods of interrogation. We were left under no illusion that confessions had to be obtained as a breaking a person would arm the security branch to break up networks and/ or infiltrate the networks e.g. by "turning" a suspect into an agent. I still have the notes from this training. Younger members were supervised by senior members in practice and although it was not my job as a field worker we were regularly called on as field workers to assist the investigation branch with interrogations. Paramount to "breaking" a person was the use of sleep deprivation. An exhausted person who is in a state of terror is generally far easier to manipulate. A roster was drawn up and teams of normally of two or three people work around the clock to keep the detainee awake and until they broke and a confession was obtained. As I recall Niel Aggett was awake for over 3 days and then offered to confess.

7.

I have admitted to all of the above crimes against the people of this country and much more in great detail. I was granted amnesty by the TRC on all but a few of the incidents I applied for... some 80 incidents involving I believe over 500 individual crimes, many of them serious. I had to leave SA and was on a witness Protection Programme for some time suffering eventually the loss of property and family and even being attacked by elements in my local church ... apart from the obvious attempts from politicians like FW De Klerk and Pik Botha to distance themselves from the depravities of the NP rule in SA.

I know and understand the contents of this declaration.

I have no objection to taking the prescribed oath.

I consider the prescribed oath to be binding on my conscience.

DEAR SIR,

As a concerned (and despairing) South African I feel incumbent to bring to your attention the fact that DAVE DALLING M.P. has joined the ANC and that we have a fully fledged member of the ANC now sitting in our own Parliament!

God only knows how many more there may be.

To prove my contention I enclose herewith a photocopy of DAVID DALLINGS cheque to the ANC for the amount of R12-00 the annual membership fee of that TERRORIST ORGANISATION.

I have unfortunately to remain anonymous in view of my professional position but trust that you will give this matter the attention it deserves.

Open letter to the ANC

IT IS necessary to ask whether the ANC is a political party or a terrorist organisation.

In other words, does the ANC seek to take part in the political life of South Africa, playing the game by the democratic rules that characterise the civilised world, or does it have a secret agenda to usurp or seize power for itself by intimidation, trickery and force?

We, Businessmen for Growth and Stability, pose this question on behalf of all South Africans, of all races, on the grounds of impressions gained from a document recently released by the ANC entitled "Negotiations and the struggle for a democratic South Africa".

From this document it appears to us that the ANC is not interested in a political settlement, or in sharing power, but that it intends usurping total political power in South Africa – and seizing power if the plan to usurp it fails.

The ANC is demanding a constitutional assembly and interim government in a bid to gain total political power before a constitution has been devised. This is like asking the selectors to pick a team for a new type of ball game, and for that team to run out onto the field, before it or its opponents know the rules of the game.

The purpose of a constitution

The purpose of a civilised constitution is to place power in the hands of the citizens of the country, in such a way that that power can only be used for the benefit of the people and cannot be misused or abused by those in the seat of government. (Ask the people of Iraq how they feel about a leader with uncurbed power.)

Like the rules of a new ball game, a constitution must be worked out through discussion around a table by experts imbued with the good of all the people, meeting in a calm atmosphere and characterised by a spirit of goodwill and give-and-take. That is our view of how the Founding Fathers of the Nation should set to work.

Businessmen for Growth and Stability

How the ANC appears to see it

However, instead of co-operating with all other groups in South Africa to speed up the framing of a constitution which is fair to all, the ANC states in its document: "This is the year of mass action for the transfer of power to the people." It says further: "Umkhonto we Sizwe must remain in place if we need it".

As we interpret its idea of mass action, the ANC plans to force the constitutional issue through consumer boycotts, stay-away actions and strikes, co-ordinated and executed on the highest possible scale – accompanied by the intimidation of black workers and the ever-present threat of armed action by MK if things do not go entirely the way of the ANC.

Constitution-making under threat

And what is the way in which MK operates? Its actions in the past took the form of planting landmines, the setting of car bombs, the killing of innocent civilians including women and children, and sabotage – in other words, the typical actions of a terrorist group.

Delegates trying to discuss the best future for all South Africans with a pistol cocked in their ears and a landmine under their chairs, would not be able to give South Africans the best possible constitution to leave for our children and our children's children.

Please explain

If our assumptions of the ANC's document are correct, we as businessmen believe that the ANC is not a political party but a terrorist organisation, bringing pressure against the people of South Africa in the guise of a democratic political action and in so doing, destabilising the country.

We trust that the ANC will indicate to the public of South Africa whether our conclusions based on its publication are correct or incorrect.

Ope brief aan die ANC

E

DIT IS nodig om te vra of die ANC 'n politieke party of 'n terroriste-organisasie is.

Met ander woorde, wil die ANC met eerlike deelname en volgens die demokratiese reëls wat die beskaafde wêreld kenmerk, aan die politieke lewe in Suid-Afrika meedoen, of het hy 'n geheime agenda om die mag vir homself by wyse van intimidasie, kullery en geweld toe te eien of oor te neem?

Ons, Sakemanne vir Groei en Stabiliteit, vra die vraag namens alle Suid-Afrikaners van alle rasse weens indrukke wat ons kry uit 'n dokument wat die ANC onlangs uitgereik het, getitel "Negotiations and the struggle for a democratic South Africa".

Volgens dié dokument lyk dit vir ons asof die ANC nie in 'n politieke skikking of in die deel van mag belang stel nie, maar dat hy van plan is om die algehele politieke mag in Suid-Afrika vir homself toe te eien, en as dit misluk, die mag eenvoudig oor te neem.

Die ANC eis 'n grondwetlike vergadering en tussentydse regering in 'n poging om algehele politieke mag te verkry voordat die grondwet opgestel is. Dit is soos as om keurders te vra om 'n span vir 'n nuwe soort balspel te kies en die spelers dan op die veld te stuur sonder dat hulle self of hul teenstanders weet wat die reëls van die spel is.

Die doel van 'n grondwet

Die doel van 'n beskaafde grondwet is om die mag in die hande van die volk van die land te plaas – op so 'n wyse dat dié mag net gebruik kan word om die mense te bevoordeel en nie misbruik kan word deur diegene wat die land regeer nie. (Vra maar the mense van Irak oor hoe hulle voel oor 'n leier met onbeteuelde mag.)

Net soos met die reëls van 'n nuwe balspel, moet 'n grondwet uitgewerk word tydens samesprekinge om 'n tafel deur deskundiges wat die belange van al die mense op die hart dra – 'n vergadering in 'n ontspanne atmosfeer wat gekenmerk word deur 'n gees van welwillendheid met mense wat bereid is om te gee en te neem.

Sakemanne vir Groei en Stabiliteit

Ons glo dit is hoe wyse Volksvaders te werk moet gaan.

Hoe die ANC dit skynbaar sien

Pleks van samewerking met alle ander groepe in Suid-Afrika om die opstel te bespoedig van 'n grondwet wat teenoor almal regverdig is, sê die ANC in sy dokument: "Dit is die jaar van massa-aksie vir die oordrag van mag aan die mense." Dit sê ook: "Umkhonto we Sizwe moet gereed bly ingeval ons hom benodig."

Soos ons sy idee van massa-aksie vertolk, beoog die ANC om die grondwet-kwessie af te dwing deur verbruikersboikotte, wegbly-aksies en stakings wat op die hoogste moontlike vlak gekoördineer en uitgevoer word. Dit sal gepaard gaan met die intimidasie van swart werkers en die volgehoue dreigement van gewapende aksie deur MK sou sake nie heeltemal volgens die ANC se plan verloop nie.

Opstel van 'n grondwet onder bedreiging

En hoe gaan MK te werk? Sy dade van die verlede was die stel van landmyne en motorbomme, die moord van onskuldige mense insluitende vroue en kinders, en sabotasie. Dus, tipiese dade van 'n terroristegroep.

Afgevaardigdes wat die beste toekoms vir alle Suid-Afrikaners probeer beding, maar met 'n gelaaide pistool teen die kop en 'n landmyn onder die stoel, is nie in staat om aan Suid-Afrika sy beste moontlike grondwet te gee om aan ons kinders en ons kinders se kinders na te laat nie.

Verduidelik asseblief

As ons aannames uit die ANC se dokument korrek is, glo ons as sakemanne dat die ANC nie 'n politieke party is nie, maar 'n terroriste-organisasie wat onder voorwendsel van 'n demokratiese politieke aksie druk op die mense van Suid-Afrika uitoefen en die land destabiliseer.

Ons vertrou dat die ANC aan die publiek van Suid-Afrika sal aandui of ons slotsom, gegronde op sy publikasie, reg of verkeerd is.
